Chicks Come From Behind and Cop Sunday Battle From Travelers in Ninth, 7 to 6. Carroll the Hero.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Dick Kauffman and his Atlanta Crackers are in Memphis for a se-ries of three games with the Mem-phis Chicks, the first of which will be reeled off at Russwood park on Monday afternoon, starting at 4 o'clock.

Monday afternoon, starting at 4 o'clook.

The Grackers have been playing the same variety of ball as the Chicks during the past several days, which means that they have been skidding badly, and the series just starting should afford the local fandom all kinds of baseball if the two clubs keep up the form they have shown of late.

The stage was set for something sensational. The Travelers had overcome a three-run lead of the Cricks by some rare strategy and horseshoes of Kid Elberfeld, Little Rock manager, driving Hughie Canavan from the box. Tiny Goodbred succeeded Hughie after Distel had singled in the ninth round as a starter.

had singled in the ninth round as a starter.

With the count 6 to 4 against the Chicks, they entered the final round. Andy High hit a liner that Distel went up into the air and pulled down. Gil Meyers hit a fly into the left field crowd that went for a home run. George Bishoff batted for Goodbred and fanned. Sloan hit a popup that Harper camped under and then muffed. Lewis shot a skier into right that Lohman should have easily captured, but it filtered through his paws, and Lewis reached first, with Sloan hoofing it to third. With Carroll up, Lewis stole second as Brottem heaved to third in an effort to eatch Sloan, figuring the double steal was on.

Carroll smacked the ball to right for one sack and both Sloan and Lewis scored. Lohman hurled the ball to the plate in an effort to head off Lewis, but Jack slid in to safety with the win-but Jack slid in to safety with the winning run.

And then pandemonium broke loose.
The crowd went absolutely insane with
loy. It was a dozen Garrison finishes relied into one. Carroll was a greater hero than anybody, and there was one grand rush to give him the glad hand and greenbacks. And he collected quite a goodly amount of the long green for his feat.

ROBBY IS BEATEN.

ROBBY IS BEATEN.

Rube Robinson, the pitching ace of the Traveler staff, was the losing pitcher, and he was hit harder than ever before at Husswood. Usually the Searcy farmer could toss his glove onto the diamond and the Chicks would concede defeat. But they were in a different mood Sunday. They had lost six out of their last ight games, and were going to win that old ball game Sunday or die in the attempt. They started in the second inning on Robby and bagged three runs. With Blades out of the way, High singled to left and Meyers was safe when McGinnis booted his grounder. Canavan singled to center, bringing High over.

Fiere the Travelers pulled a bone play, with Chief Wano, the redskin, the goat. Sloan was up and Meyers on third. The squeeze play was attempted, and Sloan bunied. Robinson fielded the bunt as Meyers crossed the plate, and Robby turned to throw to first to get Sloan, when lo and behold Chief Wano was standing right beside him, leaving first as variant as a landlubber two days at sea. Sloan got credit for a bit. With Sloan on first and Canavan on third, the double steal was attempted, with Canavan going out at the plate, and Sloan taking second, from whence he scored on Lewis' single. Lewis went out stealing.

The Travelers got one in the second when Brottem doubled, Wano sacrificed and after Lewis had taken McGinnis' pop-up, Distel hit to Blades, who made a low throw to first, allowing Brottem to country to count.
The Chicks got another in the fourth on High's single. Mayers' sacrifice. Canavan's infield out and Moore's high throw of Sloan's grounder, letting High Traviers, had a bad day with the mace, failing to get a hit all afternoon. He hit the ball on the hose every time up, and in the sixth he handcuffed. High with a drive that Andy knocked down and then threw him out at first.

Dixie Carroll's wife and baby boy were in the stands and saw him clout, the horsehide for the winning taily.

The Travelers were a sore bunch after having lost the game when it was apparently won.

Memphis fans were panning the Chicks without mercy until the blow-off in the ninth. Then they hid their fammers and brought out their horns, singing the praises of the Tribe to the skies. Veritably fandom is fickle.

An overflow crowd watched the con-test, which was one of the wildest, weirdest, woolliest of the year.

French Heavyweight in Exhibition Makes Fine Impression-Rain Prevents Good Crowd-Three Good Bouts.

BY BOB PIGUE.

Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, may rest assured that he has a chance with Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, when they meet some time around Labor day, as is now being arranged by fight promoters. Carpentier boxed a three-round exhibition here Saturday night with His Belgian sparring partner, Jules Lenaers, and convinced ringsiders and spectators generally that he will be able to offer considerable opposition to Jack Dempsey when they enter the ring to battle for the heavyweight championship.

Carpentier is unusually fast, and steps around like a lightweight. Where his speed shows most is the way he handles both hands, shooting over punch after punch with a rapidity that suggests a machine gun. He apparently hits as hard from one side as from the other, and during the brief exhibition here the Frenchman displayed that he is no novice at the mitt game. Possessing a rare physique, Carpentier has planty of poundage to carry into the ring with him, although he will weigh fully 25 or 30 pounds under the figure Dempsey will scale.

NO FALSE ALARM.

Carpentler looked good against his sparring partner as was to have been expected, but he showed enough fistic class to dispel any doubt that hay have existed that he is a false alarm. That Carpentler will give Dempsey a hard fight is the opinion of ring experts around Memphis who saw him in action here Saturday night.

Whether Carpentier can take a punch is as yet unknown, for his sparring partner hit him but seldom, and then with light taps, seldom letting fly. Carpentier fought wide open, and against Dempsey or any other formidable opponent he would more than likely have been slaughtered. Carpentier jabbed and hooked his Belgian punching bag at will and never seemed to miss him during the evening, despite the apparent effort of Lenaers to get out of range.

Carpentier shot over several rights of range.

Carpentier shot over several rights of the same variety that laid Joe Beckett. England's ex-heavyweight champion, prostrate on his vertebrae, and the Belgian dropped to his knees on one occasion. Spectators generally figured it was a stage fall, although it was eleverly executed, and came after a series of hard hooks.

of hard hooks.

If Carpentier beats Dempsey, it will be because of his speed. He appears to be speedier than Dempsey with his hands, although hardly as shifty on his feet. He is able to shoot over punches that may daze Dempsey before he can get set with his haymaker that has spelled death and havoe generally for so many aspiring heavies, not mentioning the late lamented Jess Willard. Carpentier looks to be like Jack Dillon in his prime, and there is no denying that the Hoosier Bearcat was good. Dempsey may beat him, and the general feeling around this section of the fistic world is that the world's champion will accomplish this feat, but there is the opinion that Dempsey will be meeting the very best opponent extant, an opponent who will be difficult for him to hit in the first place, and who may also be counted on to come through with what other opponents of Dempsey failed to do-offer some opposition. Of course, if Dempsey lands early on Carpentier—but that is presuming too much. much.

It should be a whale of a fight when they meet. This is our opinion after having seen both of them in action.

Tommy Sanders and Young Jack Dempsey toiled eight rounds to a dead-lock in one of the best fights ever seen in Memphis Young Dempsey had the first part of the fight, but Sanders inshed strong, and earned a draw, Dempsey fell out of the ring at one stage and injured his leg, and limped therefore.

Leo Roux and Bobby Hays gave the fans a fast mill, with Roux getting the decision afterfeight whitiwind rounds. A battle royal started the show. A slow rain fel throughout, marring the attendance and the program. About 2,000 spectators sat in.

EAST AFTER BOUTS

Gene Delmont, the local battler, is it present spending his time between New York and Philadelphia trying to get on some bouts with the best 128-130 pound men now boxing in the East. The local star has witnessed several of the topnotch featherweights in action, including the new featherweight star, Young Andy Chaney, of Baitimore, and Gene is confident he can whip them all if given the opportunity to display his wares.

John Jennings, of the Armory A. A., of Jersey City, has promised to use Delmont in the course of the next few weeks while it is almost a certainty that Philadelphia promoters will also find a convenient spot in their boxing card to place the boy whose reputation in the squared circle entities him to mingle with the topnotchers in his division. New York and Philadelphia trying to mingle with the topnotchers in his di-vision.

Delmont, as everyone knows, is a fighter and never fails to give the fans a run for their money and the Eastern folk are sure to boost him to the skies once they witness him in action. Del-mont, according to present arrange-ments, plans on returning home in a few weeks and engaging in bouts at local and other Southern clubs.

One of baseball's axioms is to the effect that when a speed bail pitcher can't get the hold on his fast one he's in for a drubbing.

That was the case with Grover Alexander at the start of the season. The Cub star was licked his first two times out. This caused the birds who are quick to pick the old-timers who are alipping to remark that Grover has been there with his war club, too. The next time he took the mound Grover got that hop working and when this was written had copped 10 straight games, with those first two defeats the conjugate of the cub batters in two of his only ones chalked up against him for
